THE AIMPOINT® HUNTER™ SERIES

TRADITION MEETS INNOVATION

The Aimpoint® Hunter series of red dot sights is built for hunters seeking enhanced optical performance in a traditional optic design. With meticulous attention to detail, the HUNTER series combines the timeless appeal of a traditional two-ring mounting system with cutting-edge functionality.

The HUNTER series includes both 34 mm models (H34S and H34L) and 30 mm models (H30S and H30L), offering hunters options to suit different preferences and setups. Unique to the HUNTER sight models is the silent yet distinct brightness intensity push buttons, allowing quick adjustments whether the hunter is wearing gloves or not.

WILD BOAR FEVER

The first Wild Boar Fever movie was released in 2008, with subsequent releases almost every year until 2021. The series embodied the dreams of hunters everywhere: impressive keilers, challenging shots, and numerous driven wild boars.

Franz-Albrecht Oettingen-Spielberg and his fellow hunters delivered world-class shooting, action-packed scenes, and thrilling hunting experiences. Throughout the series, Franz-Albrecht used several different Aimpoint® sights, reflecting the launch of new and updated models over time. In the photo, he is seen with a Micro sight, but he used various Aimpoint models as the product line evolved.

The series became a significant part of the Aimpoint® brand experience.
